6. Bed Bugs are the most annoying nightmare creatures at night times. The bed bug injects an anti-coagulant chemical into the bloodstream of its host which prevents the blood from clotting, which allows the bed bugs to suck out the blood until it is fully engorged. , you can notice dots of blood in a line on bed sheets. You can also find dried blood deposits around cracks in the bed, walls, bed-head, flooring, bedside furniture and mattress. Bed Bugs enter our premises through people coming from places like theater, trains, buses etc. Not only you lose sleep, you might have an adverse skin reaction to the bite of bed bugs. The resulting irritancy of the anti-coagulant chemical around the bite site can be severe, particularly to people with soft sensitive skin. Scratching is difficult to resist but this can cause infection of the bite area. The bed bugs treatment may have to be repeated within a fortnightly to ensure complete eradication.

Snakes are the most dangerous reptile guests to our living places which are of lethal threat to human life. They are most common in the residential areas where ornamental plants are densely planted for the noble cause combating environmental pollutions and adding aesthetic value. To avoid the problem of snakes many people who are fond of plants have removed the plants from their places. Instead of killing the snakes we provide preventive repellent treatments to avoid invasion of snakes to our property by using Carbolic acid and other chemicals.
